GLEN TAYLOR

OWNER

On March 23, 1995, Glen Taylor closed the deal that made him majority owner of the Minnesota Timberwolves. He added the title of NBA owner to a list that already included international businessman, state senator, entrepreneur, philanthropist and executive of the year.

Before he even completed his first full year season as owner, Taylor set in motion his plan for making a mark on the Minnesota sports scene. Prior to the completion of the sale of the team from Marv Wolfenson and Harvey Ratner, Taylor installed Rob Moor, Roger Griffith and Chris Wright to run the business functions of the franchise, and promoted Minnesota and NBA basketball legend Kevin McHale to develop the team. With the move of McHale to vice president of basketball and the addition of general manager Jim Stack and head coach Dwane Casey, Taylor has assembled a basketball staff with years of experience in the pro ranks.

Taylor is Chairman of the Board of Taylor Corporation, located in Mankato, Minn., 75 miles southwest of the Twin Cities. The Taylor Companies, which are involved in the printing, marketing and electronics industries, include more than 70 operating divisions in 19 states, three Canadian provinces, the United Kingdom, Australia and Mexico. Their employees number more than 14,000, including more than 5,000 Minnesotans.

Taylor built his company from modest beginnings. While a student at Mankato State University in 1959, he took a part-time job at Carlson Wedding Service, Fifteen years later, in 1974, he acquired a majority interest in the company, laying the foundation for what would soon grow into Taylor Corporation.

Taylor's business savvy has been recognized by Corporate Report magazine, which honored him as its Executive of the Year (1987), and the Sales and Marketing Executives of Minneapolis/St. Paul, who awarded him with their Sales

Executive of the Year Award (1999). He was also inducted into the Minnesota Hall of Fame (2002) by Twin Cities Monthly Magazine. On June 17, 2006, Taylor received an award from the Starkey Hearing Foundation at the organization's "So the World May Hear" awards gala in St. Paul. In addition to providing financial assistance to Starkey Hearing Foundation, Taylor and his family have participated in missions in Central America. This past winter, the Taylor family participated in a mission to Guatemala, helping 575 children and adults receive the gift of hearing.

KEVIN McHALE

VP OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

Kevin McHale's constant desire to improve the Timberwolves and his single-minded focus to win mirrors the attitude he exhibited during his Hall of Fame career with the Boston Celtics.

In the summer of 2006, McHale engineered several transactions to help the Wolves improve in the tough Western Conference. He landed prized free agent point guard Mike James, who averaged 20.3 points and 5.8 assists in 2005-06. McHale also drafted Randy Foye, an explosive guard from Villanova in the first round of the 2006 NBA Draft.

On February 12, 2005, McHale added the title of head coach to his already impressive resume, becoming the sixth bench leader in team history. He took over for Flip Saunders, who was relieved of his coaching duties. Under McHale, the Timberwolves went 19-12 down the stretch in 2004-05.

One of McHale's most heralded moves came on May 11, 1995 when he selected high-school phenom Kevin Garnett with the fifth overall pick in the 1995 NBA Draft. Considered a bold move at the time, the Wolves were rewarded with an outstanding rookie campaign from Garnett.

McHale has had a history of success in the game of basketball. In high school, he led Hibbing to the Minnesota Class AA State Basketball Tournament title game. In college, he posted a career average of 15.2 points and 8.5 rebounds per game in four seasons at the University of Minnesota, earning first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1979 and 1980. And in the pro ranks, he joined the Boston Celtics for three NBA championships, the first coming in his rookie season with the team.

McHale continued that tradition of quick success with the Timberwolves, moving from special assistant in 1993-94 to assistant general manager in 1994-95 to vice president of basketball operations. In that role, McHale is responsible for the team's entire basketball operations department, overseeing player personnel decisions, scouting and the coaching staff.

In McHale's first season with the Wolves, 1993-94, he served as a special assistant to the coaching staff. That position utilized the experience of his lengthy basketball career, which culminated in the retiring of his pro, college and high-school game jerseys. In August 1994, he was promoted to a newly created position of assistant general manager.

Prior to coming to the Timberwolves organization, McHale played 13 seasons as a power forward for the Celtics before retiring in the spring of 1993. A first-round selection (third overall) by Boston in the 1980 NBA Draft, McHale helped lead the Celtics to three NBA championships (1981, 1984 and 1986), five Eastern Conference titles and eight Atlantic Division crowns. He was voted the NBA's top sixth man twice (1984, 1985) and was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1987. He was also named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team three times (1986, 1987 and 1988). The 6-10 forward/center averaged 17.9 points and 7.3 rebounds in 971 career regular-season games. He shot 55.4 percent from the floor and 79.8 percent at the free throw line. In 169 playoff contests, McHale increased his averages to 18.8 points and 7.4 rebounds.

On Oct. 1, 1999, Kevin McHale was recognized for his achievements with the Celtics by being inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. In the typical McHale style, he gave credit to his teammates for helping him to get there. But no one goes into the Hall of Fame without a lot of hard work and personal accomplishment.

In addition to being named to the Basketball Hall of Fame, McHale has received other honors for his basketball prowess. On July 8, 2000, he was inducted into the National High School Sports Hall of Fame. During the 1997 All-Star Game in Cleveland, he was honored as one of the NBA's Top 50 Players for the league's first half-century. On Feb. 18, 1995, he was honored as the top player in U of M men's basketball history, as the school celebrated its 100th anniversary in the sport.

McHale and his wife, Lynn, along with their five children, Kristyn, Michael, Joseph, Alexandra and Thomas, reside in North Oaks, Minn.

The Wolves also selected guard Rashad McCants from North Carolina 14th overall in the 2005 NBA draft, while picking guard Bracey Wright from Indiana 47th overall. Minnesota tipped off the season with a 90-86 win over Portland on Nov. 2 at Target Center, marking the franchise's sixth consecutive Opening Day win and 11th consecutive victory in a Home Opener. Minnesota hit the road after the opening day win and fell to Seattle, 107-102, in overtime on Nov. 4. After losing their next game to the L.A. Clippers (Nov. 5) at STAPLES Center, the Wolves won two straight at home with a 93-78 victory over the Clippers on Nov. 7, and an 88-74 triumph against the L.A. Lakers two days later. The Wolves rounded out the month with a 93-84 loss to the Clippers on Nov. 29 at Target Center.

Minnesota returned home Dec. 10 and extended their win-streak to five games, beating the Lakers 95-82 for their ninth win in 11 contests. The Wolves followed up their five-game winning streak with a 90-89 overtime loss at Philadelphia then dropped consecutive home games to Sacramento (Dec. 13), San Antonio (Dec. 15) and on the road to Dallas (Dec. 18). Minnesota returned to Target Center for a four-game home stand on Dec. 21, defeating New Orleans/Oklahoma City, 88-69, holding the Hornets to an opposing team season low point total. The Wolves concluded the home stand with losses to Portland (Dec. 23) and Phoenix (Dec. 26) before picking up a 108-95 victory against Seattle (Dec. 28), in which Garnett broke out for 26 points (10-of-13), 10 rebounds and six assists, helping the Wolves to their best shooting night of the season (.581%). Minnesota finished the calendar year on the road with a loss to Orlando (Dec. 30).

JANUARY (7-9, 21-22)

The Wolves rang in the New Year on the road, with four of their first five games in January away from Target Center. The Wolves lone win in the first five games of the month came in their only home game during that stretch, against the Dallas Mavericks (Jan. 4). In that game three of Minnesota's starters scored 20 or more points, led by Kevin Garnett (23 points). The losses during that five-game stretch came at Miami (Jan. 1), San Antonio (Jan. 6), Dallas (Jan. 7) and Milwaukee (Jan. 10). The Wolves followed a rough beginning to the New Year with two straight wins at Target Center against Chicago (Jan. 11) and Denver (Jan. 13). In the win against the Bulls, Garnett was one assist shy of a triple double as he notched 28 points and 14 rebounds. Minnesota continued their hot streak with a 96-90 win against New York at Madison Square Garden (Jan. 16), in which Garnett had 24 points and 16 rebounds, improving the Wolves record to 18-17 overall. Minnesota finished up a two-game East Coast swing with a loss to Boston (Jan. 18). The team began a three-game home stand with a victory over Indiana (Jan. 20), aided by Eddie Griffin's 17 points and 14 rebounds. Following the win against the Pacers, the Wolves were deflated when Andre Iguodala tossed in a shot at the buzzer to lead Philadelphia to victory, 86-84 (Jan. 22). Minnesota finished the home stand with a loss to Detroit (Jan. 24) before hitting the road and losing to Memphis (Jan. 25). The Wolves went through a major facelift on Jan. 26, acquiring guards Ricky Davis and Marcus Banks, forward Justin Reed and center Mark Blount from Boston in exchange for forward Wally Szczerbiak, forward Dwayne Jones, center Michael Olowokandi and a future first round draft pick. In the first game with the new-look, the Wolves defeated Houston at the Toyota Center (Jan. 27) with newcomer Davis scoring 26 points to accompany Garnett's 26. Minnesota followed the win with a loss at San Antonio (Jan. 28), and returned home to close out the month by routing the Celtics 110-85 on Jan. 30. Banks scored 20 points off the bench in his first game against his former team.

FEBRUARY (3-10, 24-32)

The Wolves lost seven of their first eight games in February. After three consecutive road losses to Detroit (Feb. 1), Portland (Feb. 3) and Golden State (Feb. 4), the Wolves picked up a win in Phoenix on Feb. 6. Minnesota led by two with time winding down and Garnett swatted Shawn Marion's potential game-tying floater at its peak to preserve the win. However, the Wolves then piled up four consecutive home losses to Cleveland (Feb. 8), Utah (Feb. 10), New Orleans/Oklahoma City (Feb. 11) and Toronto (Feb. 13). Halting the four-game losing streak, Minnesota defeated Seattle 102-92 at home (Feb. 15), led by Davis' 25-point effort and 23 points and 15 boards from Garnett. The Wolves then headed East for a one-game stint, losing to Washington (Feb. 21). The Wolves returned home on Feb. 24 only to lose a heartbreaker to Denver. Minnesota came back from a 99-95 deficit to take a 101-99 lead with six seconds remaining, but Carmelo Anthony hit a three-pointer with three seconds left to win the game as he fell into the Wolves' bench. Minnesota followed the Denver loss with a 105-99 win at Target Center against Memphis (Feb. 26), in which Davis scored a season-high 35 points. Minnesota closed the month with a loss at Chicago (Feb. 28).

MARCH (6-10, 30-42)

Minnesota began March opening a three-game home stand with consecutive wins against New Jersey (March 1) and Golden State (March 5); the Wolves' first stretch of back-to-back victories since winning three straight from Jan. 11-16. The Wolves had no answer to Yao Ming's 30 points as they closed out the home stand with a loss against Houston (March 7). The next day, Minnesota embarked on their longest road trip of the season, heading west for six games. The trip did not turn out in the Wolves favor, as they lost all six contests beginning with a 96-93 loss to Utah (March 8). They followed that loss with setbacks at Seattle (March 10), Phoenix (March 11), the L.A. Clippers (March 13), the L.A. Lakers (March 15) and Golden State (March 16). The Wolves returned home in winning fashion, avenging their previous loss to Sacramento, defeating the Kings 95-89 on March 19. Kevin Garnett scored a team-season-high 37 points in that outing. Minnesota followed up the Sacramento win with their second-straight home victory, this time handing Miami only its second loss in 17 games (March 21). The Wolves hit the road again losing their first outing of a brief two-game road trip at New Jersey (March 23). Minnesota next took on Toronto and suffered their worst loss to the Raptors in franchise history in a 97-77 defeat. The Wolves returned home and defeated New York, 98-94, on March 26. Minnesota followed up with a home win over Orlando, 103-91, on March 31. Garnett led the Wolves with 27 points and 19 boards, while Ricky Davis contributed 26 points and 10 assists. The Wolves completed the month with a loss at Denver (March 31).

APRIL (3-7, 33-49)

The Timberwolves began the final month of the campaign with their fifth straight home victory and ninth in 11 contests at Target Center with a 106-104 overtime win against Golden State (April 1). Marcus Banks led the Wolves with 24 points, seven assists and five rebounds. The Wolves hit the road for another two-game road trip, dropping games at Charlotte (April 4) and Atlanta (April 5). The Wolves lost to the Hawks on Josh Childress' buzzer-beating lay up. Garnett had another big game, posting 27 points and 15 rebounds, while Ricky Davis contributed 33 points, including a game tying shot with less than three seconds remaining. The loss was the Wolves' 13th straight on the road. Minnesota returned home to drop a game to Utah (April 7), snapping the team's five-game Target Center winning streak. The Wolves then exacted a measure of revenge on the Hawks, beating them 84-83 on a Trenton Hassell last second shot at Target Center on April 9. Kevin Garnett snapped his league-leading 351 consecutive games started streak, sitting out due to tendinitis. McCants scored a career-high 28 points in Garnett's absence, leading the Wolves to victory. The Wolves followed up the win over Atlanta with a 76-92 loss to Memphis on April 11 at the FedEx Forum. Mark Blount led the Wolves in the loss with 14 points and eight rebounds. Minnesota next traveled to Houston, where it beat the Rockets 82-79 at the Toyota Center. The Wolves overcame a 10-point halftime deficit behind Blount's team-high 16 points. The Rockets scored only 10 points in the final quarter. Minnesota wrapped up its final road trip of the season on April 14 with an 89-77 loss to Indiana at Conseco Fieldhouse. In that game, Eddie Griffin posted a double-double with 18 points and 12 rebounds. Returning home for its final two games of the season, Minnesota opened up with a 103-90 loss to San Antonio on April 16. Marcus Banks tallied 25 points and five rebounds in the loss. Minnesota wrapped up the 2005-06 season with a 102-92, double-overtime loss to Memphis on April 19. Rookie Bracey Wright registered a career-high 19 points, while Griffin recorded 17 points and 15 rebounds. The Wolves closed out their 17th season with a 33-49 record.

ACTIVE ROSTER SIZE

Each team agrees to have twelve players on its Active List and to have a minimum of eight players on the bench for all regular season games. Any team may from time to time as appropriate, but for no more than two consecutive weeks at a time during the regular season, have eleven players on its Active List.

INACTIVE ROSTER SIZE

Each team agrees to have one player on its Inactive List for all regular season games. Any team may from time to time as appropriate, but for no more than two consecutive weeks at a time during the regular season, have no players on its Inactive List.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT

On Jan. 5, 2007, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day agreements.

TRADING DEADLINE

No trades are permitted after 2:00 p.m. Central time on Feb. 17, 2007. From that point to the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through waiver procedure, or by signing free agents.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

UNRESTRICTED FREE AGENT

A player who is free to sign with any team.

RESTRICTED FREE AGENT

If a free agent is "restricted," then his prior team has a "right of first refusal" that enables it to match an offer made to the free agent by another team. Thus if a restricted free agent wishes to sign with a new team he must first present his prior team with an "offer sheet" that contains the terms of his proposed contract with the new team. The prior team then has seven days to decide whether it will sign the player on the terms contained on the offer sheet or let the player sign with the new team.

OPTIONS

A provision negotiated in a contract that allows that contract to be extended one year beyond the scheduled end of that contract. The negotiated option can be either a team or player option.

NBADL WORK ASSIGNMENTS

An NBA team may at any time assign a player on its Active List or Inactive List to a NBA Development League ("NBADL") team, provided that the player has either zero or one years of service at the time of the assignment. Upon such assignment ("NBADL Work Assignment"), the player will be placed on the NBA team's Inactive List, and shall report to the NBADL team (and render for the NBADL team such services as the player is required to render for the NBA team under his Uniform Player Contract), and at the direction of the NBA team, subsequently return and report to, and resume the performance of services for, the NBA Team. An NBADL Work Assignment commences when the player reports in-person to the NBADL team, and ends either when the player, upon being recalled, reports back to his NBA team or when the NBADL season concludes. No player will be given more than three NBADL Work Assignments during any NBA season.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA playoffs: the six division winners and the next five teams in each conference according to their won-lost record, regardless of division. For the 2007 NBA Playoffs, the first four seeds in each conference will continue to be given to the three division winners and the team with the next best regular season record, but these four teams will now be seeded in order of their regular season record. This change will ensure that the two teams with the best records in the conference will not meet earlier than the Conference Finals.

Each round is best-of-seven games. In every series, the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matches, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 1 through 8 (see note below). The playoff pairings for the First Round are teams 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the conference semifinals, the winner of teams 1-8 plays the winner of teams 4-5 and the winner of teams 2-7 plays the winner of teams 3-6.

The NBA Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. All other series are 2-2-1-1-1.

MINNESOTA TIMBERWOLVES
FASTBREAK
Foundation

A spirit of giving and community involvement has helped define the Timberwolves organization for 17 years. While players and coaches come and go, the Minnesota Timberwolves FastBreak Foundation has remained a steady community partner by contributing thousands of dollars and hundreds of player appearances to help charitable causes in our region.

The mission of the FastBreak Foundation is to provide and support hands-on programs that positively impact Minnesota youth. Through giving, education, and basketball opportunities, the Foundation enables young people to make responsible decisions, contribute to their future, and experience life-long memories.

Each month during the season, the FastBreak Foundation will focus on a specific area of giving. The month will feature events, programs and a $10,000 grant to an organization that best fits the theme and fulfills the mission of the Foundation.

October:

New Season, New Beginnings

New Season, New Beginnings reflects the excitement and opportunity a new NBA season brings not only to basketball enthusiasts, but to the community in which we play. NBA Cares is the league's global community outreach initiative that addresses important social issues with an emphasis on programs that support education, youth and family development, and health-related causes. The NBA, its teams and players implement and execute programs that impact and inspire children and families worldwide.

NBA Cares also reaches more than two million players, coaches, parents and officials from around the world participating from 1,600 recreational youth basketball leagues in the Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA program, stressing the fundamentals of the game and the values of sportsmanship, teamwork and leading an active, healthy and safe lifestyle.

Basketball without Borders, a basketball instructional camp for young people that promotes friendship, healthy living and education with an emphasis on HIV/AIDS awareness and prevention, features current and former NBA players and team personnel as camp coaches. Since the inaugural camp in 2001, BWB has been held in eight countries and territories on five continents and has featured more than 160 NBA players, coaches and team personnel from 30 different teams for the nearly 1,000 young athletes from more than 100 different countries and territories.

As the world's greatest athletes, NBA players are dedicated to the community and committed to giving back in extraordinary ways. Through their foundations, camp efforts and philanthropic work, they make a difference for hundreds of non-profit and youth serving organizations.

The NBA also supports numerous causes and organizations that positively impact global communities. Make-A-Wish, UNICEF, KaBOOM!, Habitat for Humanity, Boys & Girls Clubs of America, Hands On Network, Special Olympics, the Global Business Coalition on HIV/AIDS and the World Food Programme are just a few of the organizations with which the NBA has a partnership.

One of the most versatile and familiar voices in Minnesota sports broadcasting, Tom Hanneman returns for his 18th season of Timberwolves television broadcasts. Hanneman will serve as play-by-play announcer for all of the Wolves' local network broadcasts.

Hanneman's talents have received nationwide exposure. In October 2005, Hanneman was honored by the Upper Midwest Chapter of the National Television Academy with a regional Emmy Award. He received a second regional Emmy Award as part of the winning group for the "The Year That Was" series that aired on FSN North.

Hanneman worked four seasons as the studio host of NBA Radio, anchoring a 140-station network that featured All-Star Weekend, the NBA Game of the Week and expanded NBA playoff and draft coverage. Hanneman's NBA Radio work took him to Toronto to host the 1994 World Championship of Basketball for the network, and he hosted a weekly radio show for the BBC in London, in addition to broadcasts in Australia and New Zealand.

Hanneman was already familiar to Minnesota sports fans when he joined the Timberwolves broadcast team in 1989. For the previous 16 years, he was seen by Twin Citians as a news and sports reporter on WCCO-TV.
